Chip Deep, Chip Often On Way Out

The old "chip deep and chip often" method of producing gum is rapidly giving way to a new, more economical method of bark chipping with acid stimulation, Dorsey Dyer, extension forester, told a group of naval stores producers here last week from six counties.

Acid treatment means spraying a 50 per cent solution of sulfuric acid on the freshly chipped bark.

Bulloch Future Farmers of America Appeal to Land Owners, "Be Careful"

STATESBORO F. F. A.

It Is Nearly Springtime—Woods Burning Time—Means Great Loss

By ED HOTCHKISS

It is now nearing springtime in Georgia—woods burning time. One has only to take a trip through almost any section of the state, especially at night, to see dozens of forest fires that burn the little pines, retard the larger ones, destroy the wild life, and burn the soil-enriching pine needles, the fallen leaves and twigs that enrich the soil and keep it from erosion.

The farmer must replant and tend his crops every year, but if Georgians would only help, nature would do this for the forest. If people could only realize what they burn each year, what waste they indulge in when they cut timber unwisely, the ruin they permit when cattle are permitted to roam free in timberlands, Georgia would be richer in timber, soil, wildlife and streams.

The farm meetings—the Farm Bureau people of Georgia—are doing a great work in Georgia at present, and the foresters of Georgia have a door of entrance to the out-front attention of farmers to the very important task that beckons all Georgians—re-growing and protecting Georgia forests.

Woods burning in Georgia is almost a ritual every day, and with the vast system of public schools that Georgia has, it is hard to believe that the simpler facts of forestry are seldom mentioned in the classes of boys and girls whose parents own woodlands. The older people seem to be wholly unconscious of the vast waste that goes on in Georgia each year.

Here in Statesboro High, English classes have used a study of the forest as material for the written and oral composition, and the study has become one of great interest to students who have cut into the interests of a great number of section of Bulloch county through discussion and reading in the homes of students concerned.

Southern woodlands encompass a vast area. Here grow the pines—longleaf, shortleaf, loblolly and slash—the economic backbone of the south. From logging of turpentine and rosin are manufactured by southern labor. The profits from the forest industry go into southern pocketbooks—YOURS.

Your business may have nothing to do with lumbering, pulp making, and the refining of turpentine and rosin, but your business and your livelihood are influenced by those who depend on these industries for jobs.

When fire spoils your southern woodlands, the basic raw material used in the production of turpentine and rosin may be slowed down. The security of those who cut, process, sell, or transport products made from wood is endangered.

Boys of F. F. A. chapters in Bulloch county appeal to land owners in our great nation—Be careful—Be careful—not to burn your woods unless under close supervision.

F.F.A. Resolve To Keep The Record

By EMMITT ALFORD

Bulloch county, with her numerous F. F. A. enthusiasts, points to the leading national list of Master Farmers and resolves that the high place now held in the number of famous farmers will not diminish in the coming years, but will become an unbroken national record.

"More Master Farmers than any other county in the nation," Bulloch county F. F. A. boys are making strong resolve to keep that slogan for a mighty long time.

Who are these famous farmers? They are: The Henry Blitchers, the W. H. Smiths, the John H. Brannens, the W. C. Hodges, the Delmas Rushings, the Otis Holmways, and the C. B. Gays.

The Progressive Farmer and the Extension Service name the celebrities of the farm world in Bulloch county.

REGISTER F. F. A. Pig Chain Members of Register F.F.A. Cooperate In Buying of Certain Feeds

The pig chain members of the Register F. F. A. chapter are cooperating in the buying of certain feeds and supplies they will need in the feeding of the hogs they have as part of their project program.

One-hundred-pound bags of minerals and tankage have been purchased and put into 10 and 20 pound bags to be sold to the boys as they need it. This has made it possible for many members to more easily feed a balanced ration since one animal would be a long time in using 100 pounds of such feed.

Phenothiazine has also been distributed to the members in doses for one or more hogs or calves for the removal of internal parasites. The Register members have chain pigs are: Talmadge Royal, Albert Yeomans, John C. Nevil, Jack Quick, Robert Donaldson, Hudson Temples, Ben Grady Harrelson, Herman Miles, and Bobby Bohler.

THE BULLOCH HERALD, THURSDAY, FEB. 22, 1951

Bulloch County Future Farmers Observing National F. F. A. Week

Last Saturday marked the beginning of National F. F. A. Week. Across the nation the public eye will be focused on nearly 350,000 Future Farmers and the leadership training and agricultural improvement activities they are carrying on.

Members of the (1) Nevils, (2) Brooklet, the (3) Register, the (4) Stilson, the (5) Laboratory School, the (6) Portal, and the (7) Statesboro chapters will join in this annual observance which comes every year during the week of George Washington's birthday.

The Governor also called attention to the part Georgians have played in making vocational agriculture training possible. Both Smith and Dudley Hughes, both Georgians, sponsored the Smith-Hughes Act which started vocational agriculture. Subsequently, every piece of federal legislation to expand vocational education has carried the name of Senator Walter George.

The F. F. A. was founded in 1928 by a group of vocational agriculture students meeting in Kansas City. Since that time it has grown to be the world's largest farm boy organization.

Only boys studying vocational agriculture in high school are eligible to become F. F. A. members.

C. T. C. LAB HIGH F. F. A. Lab High Takes In 14 Green Hands At Initiation Held On January 22

By JIMMY RIDGON

The Laboratory High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America held their "Green Hand" initiation on January 22 with the officers of the chapter in charge. Fourteen "Green Hands" were initiated into the club.

Our chapter has put up a new building on our three-acre experimental plot and our new agricultural building is nearly complete. We will keep our tools, equipment and supplies there. Some of our ways, we will begin our garden as soon as the weather will permit. We have finished planting the greens and court for the physical education department.

Those of us who attended the private showing of "Ed Climb the Mountain" want to impress all who haven't seen the show which is based on the life of Cora Harris as portrayed in the book "The Circuit Rider's Wife," must see the show when it comes to the Georgia Theatre. It has humor, pathos, and wonder. It has action with the Blue Ridge Mountains of Georgia as a beautiful background. "Better even than 'Stars in My Crown,'" was the comment of many who saw it. You'll enjoy every minute of it and go away feeling that you too could climb the highest mountain.

As ever, JANE.

Palate TO GEORGIA COUNTIES

Decatur County

Where "Old Hickory" Fought the Indians

FOUNDED DECEMBER 8, 1823

COUNTY SEAT, BAINBRIDGE

Decatur and Bainbridge were named for two great naval heroes: Stephen Decatur and William Bainbridge. Old Fort Hughes near Bainbridge and Fort Scott on the banks of the Flint River were strongholds of Gen. Andrew Jackson when he waged war on the Seminole Indians in 1817-21. The county's rich, historical past provides a fitting background for thriving agriculture and industry.

In this and other Georgia counties the United States Brewers Foundation cooperates closely with all retailers of beer and ale in a program which is an outstanding example of industry self-regulation. Frequent educational meetings help retailers to maintain wholesome conditions in their places of business and remind them of responsibilities to their community and their industry. This far-reaching advancement program has the full support of Georgia law enforcement authorities.

'Mixer Bound' Is Top Hog In Herd

'Mixer Bound' will head up Emory Saunders' herd of purebred Hampshire hogs.

This blue blooded boar was state fair yearling boar champion in Indiana in 1948, then took top honors in one Florida fair at Tampa in 1950, and then clinched his show record by winning the state fair honors in Florida this year as well as top honors at Live Oak.

'Mixer Bound' was bred by Gilbert Garner, Conserville, Indiana, who sold him to the C. and L. Ranch, Earlton, Florida. This ranch put the outstanding individual on the show circuit.

However, Mr. Saunders is not depending on Mixer Bound all the way for his herd sire. He is also using 'Georgia's Designer,' a boar he bought two years ago from Mullady Farm, Inc., Elgin, Ill. Most of the 14 purebred sows
